THE WALRONDS, CULLOMPTON

Brief Description

Walronds in the centre of the town of Cullompton was completed in 1605 and is Grade I listed. The building was in residential use throughout its life and had become in very poor condition and on the English Heritage register of buildings at risk. Cullompton Walronds Preservation Trust secured Heritage Lottery funding to conserve the building and open it to public access, with part of the house being used for holiday letting. Public access included opening the gardens as a small park.
